Artificial intelligence (AI)

Artificial intelligence (AI) is changing many areas of our lives by making tasks easier and faster. In healthcare, AI helps doctors diagnose diseases and create personalized treatments. In finance, it helps detect fraud and manage investments. AI can also automate jobs, making factories and deliveries run more smoothly. However, there are worries that AI might take away jobs and make decisions that are hard to understand or control. Protecting our privacy and making sure AI is used fairly are important challenges we need to address.
